Martin University to Join Higher Learning Commission's Academy

Indianapolis IN. Martin University has been recommended for acceptance to the Higher Learning Commission's Academy for Assessment of Student Learning for 2008-2009. The Academy provides a hands-on workshop that includes an in-depth view of the Academy, how it works, and the optional extras (hot-topic workshops, on-site experiences, publications showcasing Academy Institutions, Annual Meeting showcases, on-site consultation, institutional coaching, etc.). The workshop will provide institutions the opportunity to map out goals, a timeline, approach, events, and a plan for the institution across all four years of the Academy.
