ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Partnering with Martin University, Ivy Tech students can now receive university credit toward a cyber-entrepreneurship degree. This cutting-edge shared bachelor's degree program combines training in cyber-security with business and entrepreneurship.

The combined credits will go toward Ivy Tech's Cybersecurity Associate Degree in the first two years and toward Martin University's Business Entrepreneurship Technology certificate and a Business Administration Bachelor's Degree. Graduates will be prepared to join the cybersecurity industry or open their own cybersecurity agency!

CURRICULUM GUIDE

The 120-credit bachelor's degree program is for students concurrently enrolled at both Ivy Tech and Martin University. The goal is for students to complete A+, Cloud Foundation and Network+ certifications at Ivy Tech and a Business Entrepreneurship Technology certificate at Martin University within two years.

The Cyber-Entrepreneurship Program unites Ivy Tech's focus on minority student success into high wage in-demand careers with Martin University's Martin WORKS, which provides students with paid internships and other career development experiences while earning their degrees.
